ACTIONABLE × FOCUS4WARD · STAGE 2 PROPOSAL

One story, two rooms. Now let's build the engine.

Collaboration proposal · Stage 2 — Build & Scale · Appendix to agreement D-2026-003

Prepared by Miri Blum, Focus4ward · for Nicolas Rieul, Co-Founder & Co-CEO, Actionable · August 2026

Follows the marketing audit presented August 12 · clients.focus4ward.co/actionable/audit/

02 · THE MANDATE

What you asked for on August 12

You validated the audit direction and asked for one document to take into your ARR-plan re-sync: timeline, budgets, roles and KPIs, events included, and clearly what is Miri versus the other actions. This is that document.

Timeline

September to December 2026, then the 2027 run-rate. Sequenced from the 30/60/90 in the audit.

Budget

Four blocks, so every euro has an owner and a job: my retainer, freelance resources, activities and tools, and one-off project investments.

Roles + KPIs

A single table of who owns what, and success criteria per curve so we know the machine is working before the pipeline says so.

Your plan is a pipeline plan

The €7M ambition for 2027 stands on one number: pipeline must reach ~€8.5M per year, 2.7x today's rhythm. Founder-carried acquisition built the first €1.7M. It does not 2.7x. That is the gap this engagement closes.

2.7x

PIPELINE MULTIPLE REQUIRED

€8.5M/yr pipeline to carry the base case (€6.6M) and reach for €7M.

10% → 30-40%

OUTBOUND SHARE OF PIPELINE

Your own plan's shift, at today's 11% conversion. It only holds if the 80 real Tier 1-2 accounts already know the category when sales calls.

80 / 340

REAL TIER 1-2 ACCOUNTS

The ICP work says the true battlefield is 80 accounts. Small enough to name. Big enough to need a machine, not a founder's calendar.

S1 2026 proved the motion works when a conversation exists: 50 meetings, 19 opportunities, 5 logos at €136K average ACV. The constraint is not conversion. It is how many of the 80 accounts enter a conversation, and how warm they arrive.

The tension worth naming out loud

The plan moves outbound from 10% to 30-40% of pipeline. The one outbound experiment run so far, the Lemlist sequences, did not work at all. That is not an argument against the target, and outbound stays where it belongs: with sales, who own the prospecting and the number. But cold sequences into 80 enterprise accounts that have never heard of the category will keep converting badly, because the problem is not the sequence. It is that nobody on the other end recognises what Actionable is.

That is the job on this side of the line. Marketing makes those 80 accounts arrive warm: category content they have already read, an event they were invited to, a partner who has publicly vouched, a name they have seen before the email lands. Sales runs outbound. Marketing decides what outbound walks into. Same target, two motions, and they have to be built to meet.

Two curves, one engine

Everything in this proposal sits on one of two curves. They run in parallel from day one, but they pay back on different clocks. Confusing them is how marketing budgets die; separating them is how we defend this one to PA.

Curve 1 — Support what sells now

PAYS BACK INSIDE FY2026-27

- ABM on the 80 real Tier 1-2 accounts, LinkedIn-led, Nicolas's voice in front
- Events activated before / during / after (Sept 9, All4Customer, Q4 list)
- Proof restored: case-study pages sales can send and buyers can cite
- Decks proofed and unified on one story
- Ipsos pointer made public; partner channel owned, not rented

KPI: marketing-touched pipeline on the 80 accounts · meetings sourced or warmed · event-to-opportunity conversion

Curve 2 — Build the machine

COMPOUNDS INTO 2027 AND BEYOND

- Category creation: ”Predictive CX” defined, published, defended
- Rebrand + domain landed by year-end with a PR moment
- Category hub, answer-shaped pages, SEO + GEO, G2 presence
- Middle-funnel journeys for the not-ready-yet, captured in the CRM
- Persona doc from won-deal forensics (deliverable #1, with PA)

KPI: category searches exist and grow · AI engines name Actionable on buyer questions (Trakkr, monthly) · inbound enterprise conversations arriving knowing the category

Three scenarios, benchmarked on your own funnel

No invented industry benchmarks. The conversion logic below is your S1 2026 actuals (meetings → 38% opportunity → 26% close, €136K average ACV on the 5 new logos). What the scenarios vary is one thing only: how much of the required €8.5M pipeline marketing sources or warms.

SCENARIO	MARKETING-SOURCED/WARMED SHARE	PIPELINE €	OPPORTUNITIES	LOGOS (AT S1 CONV.)	NEW ARR
Worst — machine builds, founders still carry	~10%	€0.9M	~8	2	~€0.2M
Mid — curve 1 lands, curve 2 starting to cite	~20%	€1.7M	~16	4	~€0.4M
Best — your plan's own outbound target hit	30-40%	€2.6-3.4M	~24-32	6-8	€0.6-0.8M

The honest read: even the best case does not close the 2.7x alone in year one. It is not supposed to. It makes the founders' 2.7x possible by warming the 80 accounts, and it builds the inbound engine that changes the 2028 math entirely.

06 · TIMELINE

September to December, then run-rate

Sept 1-30

Foundations + first wins. Positioning and messaging locked (champion + signer). Persona doc from won-deal forensics with PA. Quick brand cleanup on the current site. G2 profile live. Nicolas's LinkedIn rhythm starts. Rebrand brief out. Sept 9 event activated. CRM decision made (see 09).

Oct 1-31

The machine goes public. Proof pages + category hub live. Content machine publishing. LinkedIn ABM running on the 80. PR groundwork. Ipsos public pointer negotiated. Rebrand in build. All4Customer activated.

Nov 1 - Dec 31

The category has an address. Rebrand lands on the new domain with a PR moment and the published category definition. Event follow-up sequences running. First Trakkr movement expected. 2027 plan written from live funnel data.

2027

Run-rate. Machine operates: content, ABM, events, partner co-marketing. US stream opens with its own lead (see 08). Quarterly strategy checkpoints against the scenario table.

THE CALENDAR IS ALREADY FULL

Nicolas's own read, and it matches curve 1 exactly: the job is not adding events, it is maximising each one commercially. Target accounts, prospect invitations, outreach before, client testimonials during, systematic follow-up after.

DATE	MOMENT	STATUS	BUDGET
Sept 9	Funding announcement + press release	Planned	—
Sept 10	Client event, new offices	To confirm	—
Sept 23	CX breakfast, Carré Édouard VII	Confirmed	~€10K
Oct 1	Vertone B2B CX lab + Google Startup Day (Nans keynote, ~800 people)	Confirmed	—
Oct 5	Palmes de la Relation Client, AFRC	To explore fast	—
Oct 6-8	One to One IA x Expérience Client, Biarritz (3 passes)	Confirmed	~€25K
Oct 7	SNCF Connect x Actionable workshop, Biarritz	Confirmed	included
Oct 13	Medallia World Tour, Paris	To explore	—
Nov 17	Argus Factory, insurance panel	Confirmed	—
Dec 3	Tendances Clients 2027, Thierry Spencer	To explore	—
Mar 9-11, 2027	One to One Retail E-commerce, Monaco	Strategic priority	~€50K

Not doing: All for Customer and Tech for Retail, both declined on bandwidth-to-ROI. The preference is clear and it is the right one: prequalified one-to-one formats over stands. Two new sales people start Sept 28, and Biarritz is their first outing.

Clearly: what is me, what is not

Your words: ”clairement ce qui est toi versus les autres actions.” The honest answer is that I direct all of it. That is what a CMO does, including where a supplier is already in place: I brief them, supervise the work and answer for whether it was done well. What varies from line to line is not whether I am on it, but who does the doing and what I am accountable for.

WORKSTREAM	WHO EXECUTES	MY ACCOUNTABILITY
Positioning, messaging, category definition	ME	I produce it
Marketing strategy, the plan, the budget, KPI reporting	ME	I produce it and I answer for the spend
Persona work from won-deal forensics	ME with PA	I produce it, PA brings the data
Content system: category hub, proof pages, SEO and GEO	FREELANCE	Architecture, brief, editorial standard, acceptance
Rebrand and new site	AGENCY	Brief, agency selection, direction, acceptance
Nicolas’s LinkedIn and the company page	NICOLAS publishes	Editorial system, drafts, cadence, measurement
ABM on the 80 accounts	FREELANCE + ME	Target selection, messaging, orchestration

WORKSTREAM	WHO EXECUTES	MY ACCOUNTABILITY
Events, including where a supplier already runs logistics	PRESTA + FREELANCE	Commercial plan before, during and after. Logistics is not the hard part; converting the room is
PR, from the Sept 9 announcement onward	AGENCY	Story, brief, agency selection, sign-off
Partner channel, starting with the public Ipsos pointer	ACTIONABLE	Playbook, co-marketing plan, negotiation support
CRM and funnel instrumentation	ACTIONABLE	Requirements, implementation direction, the reporting that comes out of it
US stream	Own US lead (NOT JAMES'S RETAINER)	Framework and oversight, see 08
Product marketing as features ship	PMM	Brief and standard. Joins the mandate in the build phase
Outbound prospecting: sequences, calls, the pipeline number	SALES	The one line that is not mine. I own what outbound walks into: target selection, messaging, content, invitations

Read the middle column as the answer to "what am I paying others for" and the right column as the answer to "what am I paying Miri for". Nothing in this plan runs without someone senior holding the standard across all of it. That is the job.

08 · THE US STREAM

The US is a market, not a translation

US CTR on brand terms is 0.37% against France's 22.8%: the US doesn't know you yet, and it will not learn from a copy-pasted French playbook. The US stream gets its own lead, own sequencing, own budget line, opened once the category foundation (EN-first by design) is live.

What the foundation already gives the US

Category hub, proof pages, G2 presence and AI-answer visibility are built EN-first. By the time the US stream opens, the shelf is stocked.

James's retainer

Sits adjacent to this plan as its own spend line, not inside these four blocks. Scope and sequencing to be aligned when the US stream opens, so the two mandates meet instead of overlapping.

09 · ONE REQUIREMENT

The CRM exists. It isn't seeing the funnel

The stack question is settled: Attio is the CRM, LinkedIn Ads has run campaigns, Lemlist ran outbound sequences. So this is not a buying decision, which is good news. It is an instrumentation job: everything in curve 2 produces signals (page visits on the 80 accounts, capture events, mid-funnel journeys, intent) and today those signals have nowhere to land.

What Attio has to do that it isn't doing

- Named-account tracking on the 80: visits, opens, event attendance
- Capture that feeds sales, not a spreadsheet
- Funnel events end to end, so the scenario table in 05 is measured rather than estimated

What this must not become

- A six-month implementation project
- A migration. The tool is fine, the wiring is missing

Four blocks, every euro with a job

Structured so PA reads it the way finance reads budgets: recurring vs one-off, my time vs bought capacity, run vs build.

BLOCK	WHAT IT BUYS	SEPT-DEC 2026	2027 RUN-RATE /MO
1 · Focus4ward retainer	Marketing leadership and delivered work, per D-2026-003: €1,350 HT/day. Pace: 2 days per week, so €2,700 a week. One day does not carry this calendar; three would be a full-time role wearing a part-time name.	€10,800 per 4-week month	€10,800 per 4-week month
2 · Resources (freelance)	Events and field marketing, content and design, paid social, product marketing. Under my direction, billed at their rate, no markup from me. Scoped and costed in the budget build.	budget build	budget build
3 · Activities, media, tools	Events already committed: ~€10K (Sept 23 breakfast) + ~€25K (Biarritz) = ~€35K. Plus LinkedIn ABM media, PR, and the tooling that makes the funnel visible.	~€35K committed + budget build	budget build
2027 commitment decided now	One to One Retail E-commerce, Monaco, March 2027. Booked far in advance, so it lands in the 2026 decision even though the spend is 2027.	—	~€50K
4 · Project investments (one-off)	Rebrand and new site, sized by the brief. Domain acquisition: broker quote in hand, a separate decision, amortised over the years it serves.	separate decision	—

What this table is, and what comes next

You asked for the budget to be built backwards from the commercial objectives rather than forward from a fixed envelope: ”pour atteindre nos objectifs, quelles actions devons-nous mettre en place et quel budget serait cohérent pour y arriver ?” That is the right instruction, and it is also why what follows is orders of magnitude, not a line-by-line budget.

A real budget of that kind is built from inside: actual event economics, quotes from the agencies we choose together, the funnel data the CRM is not yet producing, and a resourcing plan agreed with sales. Building it is the first deliverable of the engagement, in month one, not a document that precedes it. What this table gives you now is enough to decide: the committed spend, the shape of what gets added, and the ranges each line sits inside.

WHAT THE PLAN WILL NEED RESOURCING FOR

The capabilities, so the shape is decidable now. The numbers attached to each come from the budget build, because they come from real quotes and a real plan, not from an estimate made from outside the company.

People

- Events and field marketing. Ten moments between September and December, each needing target lists, invitations, outreach before, testimonials during, follow-up with sales after. On its own this is a full-time job.
- Content and design. Category content in English and French, event assets, pages, decks.
- Paid social. Someone running LinkedIn ABM properly rather than occasionally.
- Product marketing. Sharpening product messaging as features ship, and keeping the category story and the roadmap in the same sentence.

Partners and programmes

- Events themselves: the committed calendar plus whatever 2027 becomes.
- PR, starting with the September 9 announcement and continuing around the event calendar.
- Analyst relations, deliberately later. There is no Predictive CX quadrant to climb yet, so this is a 2027 conversation, not a Q4 one.
- Rebrand and new domain, sized by the brief we write together.

I work with a network of freelancers and agencies I have used for years and can vouch for. Naming them, scoping them and pricing them is part of the budget build, not a guess made in advance.

The offer on timing

If we agree the engagement now, I will use the last two weeks of August to build the budget and the plan, and you have both on your desk by 1 September: costed, sourced, and tied to the pipeline maths in screen 05. That puts a real number in front of PA at the right moment, and it means September starts executing rather than scoping.

KPIs on two clocks

Curve 1 — read monthly

- Marketing-touched pipeline on the 80 accounts (CRM-measured)
- Meetings sourced or warmed; event-to-opportunity conversion
- LinkedIn engagement on category content (Nicolas + page)

Curve 2 — read monthly, judged quarterly

- Category searches exist and grow (GSC)
- AI engines name Actionable on buyer questions (Trakkr baseline: 0 of 23 prompts)
- G2 live with enterprise reviews
- Inbound enterprise conversations arriving already knowing the category. Your own 12-month test: "We need Predictive CX, and we think Actionable is the leader."

12 · NEXT STEP

Before your PA re-sync

You re-sync with PA on the ARR plan the week of August 24. The sequence that serves you: (1) 30 minutes together on this document early that week, (2) the PA working session (persona forensics + attribution definitions), (3) Stage 2 Appendix signed so September starts on day one, not day fifteen.

Terms: Stage 2 runs as a signed Appendix to D-2026-003 at the contractual €1,350 HT/day. Delivered work and advisory time split explicitly, monthly tally shared, so the budget PA approves is the budget PA sees consumed.
